

Raising Clark County

Supporting the positive development of young children and families

Every child is filled with tremendous promise, and we have a shared responsibility to foster their potential. Clark County Public Health and community partners want to learn from people raising young children in Clark County about what helps them be more successful caregivers and what things make raising a child challenging. This feedback will guide us in our work to build a community where every child has an opportunity to thrive.

TAKE OUR BRIEF SURVEY
Share your experiences and enter to win a Visa gift card. Survey is open through April 30.

- Anonymous (we won't know who you are)
- Five main questions and seven short questions to help us understand our community better
- Open to people who are expecting a child or raising a child or children 5 years and younger.

This includes parents, adoptive parents, kinship care providers, foster parents, guardians, grandparents, and others who are raising children.
